

Healthcare Liability Smorgasbord Poses Challenge

---

Health care providers often face three related, yet distinct, claims in court: medical malpractice, informed consent, and battery. Lawyers and their clients, whether plaintiffs or defendants, must consider the differences among these causes of action at every stage of a case, from complaint to trial.